

5 Team Management Responsibilities of a Good Leader

1

Creating clear and achievable goals for your team using the SMART method

2

Regularly reviewing and adjusting these goals to keep them realistic and motivating as work progresses.

3

Setting clear expectations and communicating them often to ensure everyone knows their role.

4

Using effective task management tools like Bordio to streamline work processes and improve team collaboration

5

Tracking and celebrating employee achievements to boost morale and encourage retention.

6

Using tools like KPIs, Scrum boards, and Kanban to visualize workflow and monitor team progress
